Narrative 2

W Write your hook & conclusion.

Hook: Introduce your topic in an exciting way. After the provided hook, add one more sentence to kick off your story. Avoid saying, "I'm going to tell you about the day..."

Once upon a time there were three kangaroos. _____

Conclusion: This is the last sentence or two of your paragraph. Wrap up your narrative by telling how the story ends. Avoid saying, "I hope you liked my story about..."

Put it all together.

Write your paragraph. Be sure to write in paragraph form, not as a list of sentences. Write your paragraph in this order:

- Hook
- Detail 1 & explanation
- Detail 2 & explanation
- Detail 3 & explanation
- Conclusion

T Edit & Revise

Check your writing for...

- Correct spelling
- Correct punctuation

Introduction

Thank you for purchasing this unit!

I've been refining my writing instruction for years, and I finally love what I'm doing for student writing practice. We focus on writing one quality paragraph each week, editing, revising, and publishing it.

This unit includes ten informative writing prompts, complete with daily tasks that students can do in centers with minimal help, while you are working with small groups. These prompts can be done in any order. In my classroom, we alternate using these informative prompts with center activities for other writing genres.

If there is anything I can do to help you implement this program in your class, don't hesitate to email me at Kristen@chalkandapples.com.
